THE CHASM

By GEORGE CRAM COOK

Everybody who likes a strong, well-written love story with character and ideas
Everybody with radical or progressive tendencies
Will like "The Chasm"

Between an American heiress of commanding beauty and her ardent socialist lover lies the social chasm. On her own side of the gulf she is adored by a talented Russian nobleman. The struggle of the rivals creates a big personal problem for the girl, but also draws her deep into the bitter warfare between privilege on the one hand, and democracy on the other.

The author writes with a masterly understanding of people, a brilliant perception of life's foundations, and an intense power which sweeps the story from the little limitations in a small Illinois town away to a heroic level of passions, tragedies and aspirations in present-day Russia.

"The Phantom of the Opera" has taken the Country by Storm

GASTON LEROUX

ONE WEEK OLD AND FAMOUS THE COUNTRY OVER

"'The Phantom of the Opera' is the most daring, the most original, the most perfectly worked out plot in the way of a mystery story that has happened since the advent of Sherlock Holmes—we are almost tempted to say since Hugo's Notre Dame.

* * * *

"We have no intention of telling the plot and spoiling all. We leave to the reader a treat such as has not been offered for years.

* * * *

"The intimate, convincing manner is worthy of Defoe, and the mystery itself is managed just as it should be.

* * * *

"Everything is 'prepared,' as they say in the drama, and hardly a page passes but a little more is unfolded, leading up with ever-increasing tension to the final explanation. André Castaigne has done some remarkable illustrations for the book."—Extracts from The Press.

SECOND NOTICE!

A Worthy Companion to "The Rosary"

The Mistress of Shenstone

By FLORENCE L. BARCLAY, Author of The Rosary

It was inevitable that there should be eager interest in a new story by the author of the most popular book of the year.

The Mistress of Shenstone

does not depend, however, upon the prestige of The Rosary, although it is instinct with the same depth of feeling, glowing imagery and refinement of literary art.

The new book has just commenced to sell (although nearly 100,000 have already been sold), is selling better every day, and bids fair soon to equal The Rosary in popularity.

HIS PRIVATE LIFE BY HIS PRIVATE SECRETARY

CECIL RHODES

By PHILIP JOURDAN. 16 Illustrations. Cloth, 8vo, $2.50 net

IN ACTIVE PREPARATION

"It is a pleasant change to turn from the idea of the Colossus, the Empire builder, the thinker in continents, to the mere man, simple, impulsive, affection, ate, shy, 'particularly partial to people with blue eyes,' hating letter writing-worried to distraction by lady beggars, dining with satisfaction off cold mutton, dispensing lordly cheques to waiters, and getting horribly angry with Sir Luke Fildes because the half-finished portrait was not to his liking. There have been those who denied that Rhodes had a heart, just as there are those who—till they read his will—denied him ideals. They may be recommended to read the testimony of Mr. Jourdan, who for the last eight years of his life was his private secretary, in a peculiarly trusted sense, and whose tributes to his dead master are all the more touching for their unvarnished simplicity. To be a hero to one's private secretary, empowered to open letters marked 'strictly confidential' is a harder matter than to be a hero to one's valet."—London Observer.

Two Russian Reformers

TOLSTOY—TURGENEV

By J. A. T. LLOYD. Illustrated. 8vo, $3.50 net.

The world is just beginning to appreciate the colossal greatness of Tolstoy, now that the Russian is no more.

Mr. Lloyd traces the development of his work as artist and as an ethical teacher, and offers an interesting comparison with the growth of Turgenev.

LADY JOHN RUSSELL

A Memoir with Selections from her Diaries and Correspondence. Edited by Desmond MacCarthy and Agatha Russell. Ten illustrations of which six are in color. Cloth, 8vo, $3.50 net.

READY FEBRUARY 10

The interest of the book from the general reader's point of view may be described as the interest of following political events through the eyes of the wife of one of the principal actors in them. Lady John Russell belonged to a tradition now almost extinct. Among her personal friends were Dickens, Tennyson, Herbert Spencer, Rogers, and Tom Moore. She was a life-long friend of Queen Victoria. Mr. Austin MacCarthy contributes a chapter of reminiscences.

THE FATE OF HENRY OF NAVARRE

By JOHN BLOUNDELLE BURTON. Illustrations of the Notable Places of Paris, Including a Map of the City, 1610, and Portraits of the Leading Personages of the Time in France. Cloth, 8vo, $4.00 net.

The author relates the true history of the murder of Henri Quatre, which has never before been told in the literature of this country, and only hinted at, though broadly so, in France. He also shows that the female sex played a strong part in the plots against this most popular king.

RECOLLECTIONS OF A SOCIETY CLAIRVOYANT

READY FEBRUARY 10 Cloth, 8vo, $3.00 net

The author records a remarkable career. He tells of solving mysteries in the world of fashion from London to San Francisco, also robberies, murders, etc. Discusses all kinds of psychic phenomena.

MARIE-CLAIRE

By MARGUERITE AUDOUX

With an Introduction by ARNOLD BENNETT

¶ This book which has attracted so much attention in France and England is awaited with eagerness by the reading public in America.

¶ It is a book apart by itself, without parallel in contemporary literature for sustained and quiet beauty. As Arnold Bennett expresses it, "It is not fiction. It is the exquisite expression of a temperament. It is a divine accident." And withal it has the human element of popular appeal which promises an unusual success.

¶ Temperamentally the book is decidedly the sort that finds large and ready sale in America.

MAUDE BAXTER

"Maude Baxter" is a story that takes you a century out of the beaten track of fiction. It contains enough of stirring interest and rapid action to make a dozen usual novels. There's love galore and intrigue and adventure, and yet the whole is handled with the excellent literary style that the creator of "Betsy Ross" understands so well

Thompson Buchanan knows human nature, and in "The Second Wife" he has written a story about live people—people who act and talk and do the things that real people do. It is a book of laughs and brilliant dialogue and yet is something more—a great big human story with a "wallop" to it.

A SPLENDID TRIBUTE

Third Edition nearly exhausted

THE BROAD HIGHWAY

By JEFFERY FARNOL

The Romance which the World has been waiting for. Crown 8vo, over 500 pages. 6/-

Daily Telegraph.—"A series of incidents as swift as any of the romances of DUMAS."

Standard.—"To those who know their BORROW and JEFFERIES it will come with pleasure and surprise."

Evening Standard.—"With the exception of Mr. WELLS, I do not know a living writer who could bear his reader so buoyantly through five hundred packed pages as Mr. Farnol bears him . . . 'The Broad Highway' is a direct descendant of 'Gil Blas' (LESAGE) and 'Lavengro' (BORROW) . . . DUMAS himself was no fonder a 'scrap' than Mr Farnol."

Pall Mall Gazette.—"He leaves the open road now and then for a gay lay sermon in the FIELDING manner; and he treats us to a succession of country taverns a la SMOLLETT."

Sportsman.—"There is a DICKENS touch in not a few passages and conceits, though the author's style has been formed apparently on ADDISON and STERNE."

Sporting Life.—"If some of the characters remind one of HARRISON AINSWORTH, others at once summon to the mind GEORGE BORROW."

Yorkshire Daily Observer.—"It has more than a suggestion of the BORROVIAN method and manner."

Eastern Morning News.—"Mr. Farnol gives us a MAURICE HEWLETT plot in a fashion that is distinctly his own. . . . . It is the same atmosphere as that which invests SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE'S fine play 'The House of Temperley.'"

Sphere.—"A fine breath of the open country, a BORROVIAN sense of vagabondage."

Graphic.—"A real DICKENS character, this 'Professional Sambo.'"

Kentish Mercury.—"He has evidently been much influenced by both R. D. BLACKMORE and R. L. STEVENSON."

Commentator.—"There is a highland piper, the inmate of a haunted cottage, who is worthy of STEVENSON."

NOTES IN SEASON.

G. P. Putnam's Sons have reason to believe Miss Barclay's "The Mistress of Shenstone" will be as popular as "The Rosary." It is selling better every day, and 100,000 copies have already been sold.

David McKay, Philadelphia, calls the attention of the trade to the fact that he has purchased from the Manhattan Press the line of young people's classics made by G. H. McKibbin and published under the title of The Manhattan Series. To the twenty-five titles already in the series will be added Stevenson's "The Child's Garden of Verse."

George H. Doran Company will have ready about February 15 "Marie-Claire," by Marguerite Audoux, the novel by a French seamstress that won a prize as the best novel of the year, and has caused a sensation in France and England. Arnold Bennett has written an introduction for the book, in which he says: "It is not fiction. It is the exquisite expression of temperament."

Bobbs-Merrill Company have just ready "Colonel Todhunter of Missouri," by Ripley D. Saunders, presenting the story of a Democrat of the old brand, a natural leader in politics because of his gifts of speech-making and his rare good fellowship. He has been drawn with bold, firm strokes with a recognition of his humanness above everything else. The illustrations are by W. B. King.

W. J. Watt & Company announce two novels for immediate publication: "The Second Wife," by Thompson Buchanan, is a story of modern life, for which Harrison Fisher and W. W. Fawcett have made the illustrations. The other "Maude Baxter," is a tale full of stirring interest and rapid action, written by the author who created "Betsy Ross;" Will Grevé is the illustrator of the book.

February 10 is the day of publication announced by the Frederick A. Stokes Company for "The Chasm," by George Cram Cook. Between an American heiress of great beauty and her ardent socialist lover lies the social chasm. On her side of the gulf is a talented Russian nobleman who also loves her, and the rivalry between the two men draws the girl into the bitter warfare between privilege and democracy.

A biography of much interest and importance is announced by John Lane Company. This is "Cecil Rhodes," by Philip Jourdan, who as Rhodes's private secretary had unusual opportunities of really knowing the man's private life. It reveals Rhodes as a mere man, simple, impulsive, affectionate, shy, "particularly partial to people with blue eyes," but even after eight years of intimate association still a hero in the eyes of his secretary. Surely any man might envy a tribute such as this to his memory. Owing to unavoidable delays the book will not be issued as soon as was at first intended.

"The Broad Highway," by Jeffery Farnol, which has aroused the enthusiasm of the English critics, is now announced for publication in this country by Little, Brown & Co., on February 11. It is pronounced by the London Graphic "the novel of a decade," while Clement Shorter says in the Sphere: "I have discovered a writer of striking merit. Mr. Jeffery Farnol, whose name I have never heard before. The title of the book is 'The Broad Highway;' it is the breeziest romance I have read for a long time. Jeffery Farnol is a young man, a native of Birmingham, Eng., who, after travelling abroad, including a visit to America, has settled down in the county of Kent, where the scenes of "The Broad Highway" are laid. He is regarded as one of the most promising of the younger generation of English authors.

When, in 1651-2, the Cromwellians under General Overton attacked Dunnottar Castle, the regalia of Scotland was hidden there. Earl Marischal was the owner of the castle, but as he had frequently to attend meetings of the Estates he appointed George Ogilvy of Barras, governor of Dunnottar. There has long been a controversy as to whether Marischal or Ogilvy should have the credit for the defense and preservation of the regalia, and in this volume much evidence in favor of the latter is brought out.

The Northwest is again the scene in Mr. Bindloss's new story. Sydney Carteret, an Englishman, goes to Canada to shoot and climb in the mountains and also to visit a relative who has lived there for years. He receives word that the bank his family has owned for years has failed, and his brother died under circumstances pointing to suicide. He resolves to buy a ranch and stay in Canada under an assumed name, a report of his death in a landslide making it easy for him to take a new identity. How he at last reveals who he is, and helps to save a mining property for his relative, ends this story of hunting, ranching, mining, finance and love.

Professor Browne's sympathies are all with Persia, which is perhaps natural, as he is professor of Arabic at Pembroke, Cambridge and an Orientalist of note. In the struggle in which the Shah, Muhammad Ali, abdicated in favor of his son, Sultan Ahmad, Persia was threatened by absorption by either Russia or England, under the guise of a temporary occupation until a settlement of all difficulties could be arrived at. It is this occupation which the author opposes in his history, as he feels that it would prove anything but temporary, and would result in the loss of Persia to the nations of the world.

Bull, C: Livingston.

Under the roof of the jungle; a book of animal life in the Guiana wilds; with 60 full-page plates and many minor decorations from drawings from life by the author. Bost., Page, '11. (F4) c. '08-'11. 14+271 p. O. $2 n.

Mr. Bull is known as the illustrator of a number of books, but here he is the author as well. The volume records his observations of the animals of the Guiana jungle. Jaguar, cayman or crocodile, fish, strange turtles, monkeys, ibises, toucans, and many others are described and pictured. The author went to study not to hunt the wild creatures, so there is no record of big "bags."

Individualism; four lectures on the significance of consciousness for social relations. N. Y., Longmans, '11. (F4) c. 19+301 p. O. $1.80 n.

Dr. Fite, professor of philosophy in Indiana University, deliverd the lectures comprising this book at the University of Chicago in the summer of 1909. Their purpose is to develop the conception of the individual and his importance in the world. He believes that the prevailing exaggeration of the social and depreciation of the individual is wrong, and that the individual as a conscious agent is the source and measure of all value, and that the interests of conscious individuals are essentially harmonious in so far as they are conscious.

The great texts of the Bible. v. 1, Isaiah. N. Y., Scribner, '10, ['11.] (F4) 8+504 p. 8°, $3 n.

The first volume of a work of practical interest to the clergymen, but not without its appeal for the general reader. In this exhaustive study the texts taken from Scripture are supplied with brief introductions and explanatory notes, and this machinery, while increasing the preacher's store of material, is framed in such wise as not to induce a lazy adoption of readymade arguments, but, on the contrary, to stimulate originality of thought and treatment. The opening volume is given to Isaiah and the second to St. Mark. There will be in all about twenty volumes.

Public ownership of telephones on the continent of Europe; awarded the David A. Wells prize for the year 1909-'10, and published from the income of the David A. Wells fund. Bost., Houghton Mifflin, '11. (F4) c. '11. 20+482 p. (4 p. bibl.) O. (Harvard economic studies.) $2 n.

In this volume the author sets forth the results of two years' investigations in Europe, where he studied industrial and governmental conditions, and has drawn his information not only from the most reliable documentary sources, but also from personal interviews with the responsible officials. In the body of the book he has let the facts speak for themselves; in the conclusion he has attempted to interpret the significance of the European experience for the American reader. Although not advocating a policy for adoption in the United States, he states in unequivocal terms his judgment concerning the true value of public ownership as a form of industrial organization in the telephone business. Mr. Holcombe is now instructor in government in Harvard University.

First author is professor and second is instructor of transportation and commerce in the University of Pennsylvania. This book has been written mainly to meet the demand of men in the railway service for complete and authentic information regarding traffic services and rate systems. It is not an attack upon railroads, nor a defense of them. It is an exhaustive account of the intricate and detailed work connected with railroad traffic and rate making. The authors have given the subject years of study, and have received information and advice from many prominent railway officials and other traffic experts.

Phelps, W: Lyon.

Essays on Russian novelists. N. Y., Macmillan, '11. (F4) c. 9+322 p. (37 p. bibl.) por. D. $1.25 n.

Professor Phelps, last year, published a book of "Essays on modern novelists," with which this new volume is uniform. In his opinion Russian fiction is the best in the world, and it is with hope of convincing American and English readers of this, that he sends this present book forth. Contents: Russian national character; Gogol; Turgenev; Dostoevski; Tolstoi; Gorki; Chekhov; Artsybashev; Andreev; Kurpin's picture of garrison life. Mr. Andrew Keogh, reference librarian of Yale, has compiled a list of each author's publications which are arranged chronologically under the authors, who are, in turn, arranged alphabetically. These lists include besides prose fiction, all important poetical and dramatic writings. Political and religious tracts and essays are excluded. All of Tolstoi's and Turgenev's novels are accessible in English; for other authors, translations into French and German are included, as many of their works have not as yet appeared in English.

Tragicomedy developed, flourished and waned more than two centuries ago. It is a form of drama in which the plot is of a serious nature but there are no deaths, the dénouement being happy, and the parts a mixture of tragedy and comedy. Tragicomedy was not originated in England but flourished in France, Italy and Spain, and may be traced even in the Greek drama. Dr. Ristine devotes his book especiallly to England. A list of English tragicomedies is given in an appendix. Index.

Charles de Sainte-Marthe, (1512-1555.) N. Y., [Lemcke & B.,] '10, ['11.] (F4) c. '10. 16+664 p. (33 p. bibl.) D. (Columbia Univ. studies in romance philology and literature.) $1 n.
This study of Charles de Sainte-Marthe was undertaken as part of the requirement for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Columbia University. Sainte-Marthe was a scholar and religious reformer of the sixteenth century, who wished reforms in the Catholic church, but did not wish to leave the communion. He was imprisoned and at one time it seemed as if his death would be demanded by the Grenoble Parlement. Powerful friends secured his release and he entered the service of the Duchess of Vendôme and Longueville and later of the Queen of Navarre. As a poet and a prose writer he was greatly esteemed by his contemporaries. Index.

Wells, Herb. G:
The new Machiavelli. N. Y., Duffield, '10, ['11.] (F4) c. '10. 490 p. D. $1.35 n.
As the Machiavelli of history in the 16th century after being sent into retirement, laid bare the sins of his generation in drastic language, so this "New Machiavelli," after renouncing the great prizes England offers to her successful statesmen who have proved leaders, goes into retirement and writes his views of English statesmanship to-day. Modern education and the daily more complicated problem of woman since she has broken loose from her conventional moorings are specially discussed. The book is as outspoken as "Tono-Bungay." It has made a sensation in London and the second large American edition is already almost exhausted.

The Publishers' Weekly
FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT

February 4, 1911

The editor is not responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.
Publishers should send books promptly for weekly record and descriptive annotation, if possible in advance of publication. The Record of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

CANADIAN RECIPROCITY AND THE TARIFF ON BOOKS.

THE scheme of reciprocity with Canada submitted by the President to Congress seems to contain few, if any, features which directly concern the business of book publishing. The publishing trade, though chiefly in its newspaper relations, may benefit somewhat from the placing of Canadian pulp on the free list, and paper manufacturers in turn should obtain some benefit from the Canadian concession permitting free importation of print paper of the lower grades into Canada. Canada, as well as the United States, has a manufacturing clause as a condition of domestic copyright, though this is not fully effective in Canada because of the concurrence of imperial copyright, which is not dependent upon manufacture, but upon first publication of reciprocity.

The reciprocity proposal is sure, however, to reopen the whole tariff question and lead to important developments. What publishers need to emphasize is that to make the free importation of books possible, where there is competition as on non-copyright books, there should also be free material and general reduction in the elements of cost. "The high cost of living" which is especially complained of in this country means high wages, though not really higher wages in purchasing power, so that the manufacturing industry is affected not only by direct enhancement of the cost of material, but by the indirect enhancement of labor elements of cost. Such conditions always make steps of tariff reform extremely difficult, to friends as well as to foes of tariff reduction.

The reciprocity proposals which will probably be received well throughout the country are not without illustrations of this difficulty. Certain manufactured articles are admitted free or have a reduced rate in Canada; but the Canadian patent law requires that to protect Canadian patents the articles shall be manufactured within Canada. As a result Canadian manufacturers can export patented articles into the United States, manufacturing for both markets, while manufacturers within the United States must also manufacture separately for Canada at a Canadian factory. Thus reciprocity is not complete and fair without a waiver of this patent provision. When there is question of dealing with copyright and the manufacturing clause the difficulty in this respect will be a serious one. Either reciprocity will mean little, or it will mean some kind of waiver of the manufacturing clause.

AN OLD NEW YORK BOOKSELLER.

How is it that none of the correspondents who have been reminiscing about old New York has even so much as referred to a certain bookstore, the browsing place of all true lovers of ancient things in this town, which was housed in a rickety building just off City Hall Park? asks a writer to the New York Sun. The building has been gone these ten or a dozen years, and although the shop was removed to other quarters it did not long survive the old-fashioned structure in which it had prospered. To reach it one climbed a flight of squeaking stairs, and if one came at the right time of day the door opened to a push, while a bell tinkled hospitably. I wonder if Old Man Cooke is still alive—Old Man Cooke, who knew more about the antiquities of the town than all the rest of us put together.

Were you looking for an ancient map or pamphlet or some rare book relating to New York, anything in fact from a print to an auction announcement, you were seldom disappointed of finding it at Old Man Cooke's, and if he didn't have it he would tell you the substance of the information in it which you wanted. Is there any such shop now? Does any book dealer nowadays spend an hour or more in delightful conversation with customers who happen to glance appreciatively at a rusty map that supplies a hiatus in the chain of title to some forgotten farm below Chambers Street? And then the pleasing formalities which attended every purchase by a favored customer. First, the invariable present of a scarce pamphlet, for example, "A History of the Forgeries, Perjuries and Other Crimes of Our Model Mayor," Fernando Wood; next, the invitation to repair to Fitzgerald's for a dram to bind the bargain.

To be sure of finding Old Man Cooke one generally called late in the afternoon, when the courts were closed. His services were in demand as an expert witness in disputes over the lines of old roads and the boundaries of old estates. Experienced title searchers never haggled about the fee, for they knew that it might be doubled at the first word of protest; but there was no fee to you who inquired for the mere love of learning.

Says Thomas A. Janvier in his book "In Old New York":

"I have had the assistance of Mr. Richard D. Cooke, the highest authority in such matters in New York, and the use of his unique collection of maps."

Alas for impecunious students, that collection, the famous Bridges collection of 5000 maps, surveys and field books, is now the property of a title company, because Old Man Cooke got tired of waiting for the city to buy it for the use of the public.

THE RIVERSIDE READERS.

UNUSUAL interest is manifested in the announcement of Houghton Mifflin Company that they will this spring issue a series of readers to be called the Riverside Readers. The editors of the series are James H. Van Sickle, Superintendent of Schools in Baltimore, and Miss Wilhelmina Seegmiller, Director of Art in the Indianapolis Public Schools, assisted by Miss Frances Jenkins, Supervisor of Elementary Grades in Decatur, Ill. Miss Frances Jenkins has carefully studied the problem of teaching reading, first in the public schools of Baltimore, then during a graduate course in Teachers College, Columbia University, and in her present position as Supervisor of Elementary Grades in Decatur, Ill. These editors have been ably assisted by advisers and critics selected from successful teachers in the various grades.

Houghton Mifflin Company have extraordinary facilities for preparing a superior set of readers, because of the large amount of copyrighted material under their control, and the excellence of the work of the Riverside Press. The single fact that they are the sole authorized publishers of the works of the great Americans authors, Longfellow, Lowell, Holmes, Whittier, Hawthorne, Emerson, Thoreau, Aldrich, and Bret Harte, and that they also publish all the works of many recent authors such as John Burroughs, Edward Rowland Sill, Celia Thaxter, Sarah Orne Jewett, Kate Douglas Wiggin and Abbie Farwell Brown, as well as important books by Charles Dudley Warner, William Dean Howells, Joel Chandler Harris, F. Hopkinson Smith, Horace E. Scudder, Mary Johnston, Olive Thorne Miller, and Margaret Deland, is sufficient guarantee of the material the editors will have to select from.

The readers in their mechanical make-up and in their illustrations will represent the highest ideals of book-making. In the primary book there are numerous colored illustrations by Ruth Mary Hallock, Marginel Enright and Clara E. Atwood; and in the higher books there are pictures by E. Boyd Smith, Howard Pyle and other notable artists.

OBITUARY NOTES.

MRS. ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS WARD.

MRS. ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS WARD, whose "Gates Ajar" was a best-seller of its day and gave its author world-wide fame, died January 28, at her home in Newton Centre, Mass. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward was born August 31, 1844, in Boston, while her father, the Rev. Austin Ward was minister there. Her mother, Elizabeth Stuart, was eldest daughter of Moses Stuart, one of the bright lights of the college in the days when Andover was a main centre of intellectual and theological life in Massachusetts. Miss Phelps began to write when she was thirteen. Se was always thoughtful and all her books are written with moral purpose. After the death of a favorite brother she wrote "The Gates Ajar," which preached a new gospel of immortality and was earnestly discussed when it appeared in many languages. In 1888 Miss Phelps married Herbert D. Ward, son of Dr. William Hayes Ward, of the New York Independent. He was then professor of Latin and Greek at Tallageda College. He adopted a literary career after his marriage.

Mrs. Ward's early works were: "The Gypsy Series" (4 vols.); "The Gates Ajar," 1868; "Men, Women and Ghosts," 1869; "The Trotty Book," 1869; "Hedged In," 1870; "The Silent Partner," 1871; "What to Wear," 1873; "Trotty's Wedding-Tour and Story Book," 1873; "Poetic Studies," 1875; "The Story of Avis," 1877; "Sealed Orders," 1882; "Friends," 1881; "Doctor Zay," 1882; "Beyond the Gates," 1883; "Songs of the Silent World," 1884; "Old Maids and Burglars in Paradise," 1885; "The Madonna of the Tubs," 1886; "The Gates Between," 1887; "Jack the Fisherman," 1887, and "The Struggles for Immortality," 1889.

After her marriage she collaborated with her husband on "A Lost Hero," 1889; "Come Forth," 1890; and "The Master of the Magicians," 1890.

Other works by her alone are: "Fourteen to One," 1891; "Donald Marcy," 1893; "A Singular Life," 1894; "The Supply at St. Agatha's," 1896; "Chapters from a Life," 1896; "The Story of Jesus Christ," 1897; "Within the Gates," 1901; "Successors to Mary the First," 1901; "Avery," 1902; "Trixy," 1904; "The Man in the Case," 1906; "Walled In," 1907; "Though Life Us Do Part," 1908; "Jonathan and David," 1909, and "The Oath of Allegiance," 1909.

It is said that Mrs. Ward never read any reviews or notices of her own books.

JOHN LOCKWOOD KIPLING

JOHN LOCKWOOD KIPLING, father of Rudyard Kipling, died Sunday, January 29, at his home, The Gables, Isbury, near Salisbury. He was born in Pickering, England, in 1837. He was known here as an illustrator of his son's books, and was by profession an architectural sculptor. He came to this country in 1893 as an official to the World's Fair, and had made other visits here. He was a retired member of the Indian Educational Service, and went to that country to instruct in the Bombay School of Art in 1865. After ten years at the Bombay School of Art, the establishment of which marked the beginning of modern art education in India, Lockwood Kipling went to Lahore, where he founded the Mayo Art School, a monument of the Government to Lord Mayo. Later he was appointed to the more notable position of Curator of the Lahore Museum. In 1893 he resigned his curatorship and returned to England, where he took up residence in the house in which he died. His wife died only a few weeks ago. She was also literary, and wrote "Verses of Mother and Daughter," published by Doubleday, Page & Co. One of the most recent tasks was the illustration of Rudyard Kipling's books. He made bas-reliefs in clay, and these were photographed for reproduction as illustrations. He was the author of "Beast and Man in India," which appeared twenty years ago, and is on the Macmillan list in this country.

Dr. James A. Harrison, philologist, for fifteen years Professor of English and Romance Languages in the University of Virginia and one of the best known authors of the South, died at Charlottesville, Va., January 21. He had filled successively chairs at Randolph-Macon College, Washington and Lee University, and the University of Virginia, and was lecturer on Anglo-Saxon poetry at Johns Hopkins. Among his published works are "Group of Poets and Their Haunts" (1874); "Spain in Profile" (1879); "Autrefois: a Collection of Creole Tales;" "Dictionary of Anglo-Saxon Poetry" (with W. M. Baskerville); and he performed noted editorial work on "Beowulf," 1883; "Library of Anglo-Saxon Poetry," 5 v., 1883; "Mme. de Sévigné's Letters," 1898; "Edgar Allan Poe's Complete Works," 17 v. (1902). He was also one of the editorial staff of the Century and Standard Dictionaries. Dr. Harrison was born in Pass Christian, Miss., August, 21, 1848.

A. C. McCLURG & CO.'S BEST SELLERS.

The following were the best sellers in the A. C. McClurg & Co.'s store (wholesale and retail) from November 21 to December 21. This list represents sales in the Middle West of the country:

FICTION.

McCarter, Price of the Prairie; Barclay, The Rosary; White, Rules of the Game; Hough, Purchase Price; Abbott, Molly Make-Believe; Thurston, Max; McCutcheon, Rose in the Ring; Nicholson, Siege of the Seven Suitors; Bosher, Mary Cary—Frequently Martha; Allen, Doctor's Christmas Eve.

NON-FICTION.

Addams, Twenty Years at Hull House; Roosevelt's African Game Trails; Crothers, Among Friends; Maeterlinck, The Blue Bird.

JUVENILES.

Johnston, Mary Ware in Texas; Newell's Slant Book; Baum, Emerald City of Oz.

COMMUNICATIONS.

THE "NET" DOES NOT FRIGHTEN CUSTOMERS.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 31, 1911.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

A discriminating purchaser of fiction entered our store to-day and selected five novels, as follows: "Howards End," Foster, Putnam, net, $1.35; "New Machiavelli, Wells, Duffield, net, $1.35; "To Highest Bidder," Kingsley, Dodd, net, $1.20; "The Creators," Sinclair, Century Co., net, $1.30; "Sydney Carteret," Bindloss, Stokes, net, $1.25. This little transaction goes to indicate at least two points: that the best fiction is now published at net prices, and that customers will pay good prices for what they want.

Very truly yours,
The Edward P. Judd Co.,
A. B. F.

J. B. PRATT BECOMES PRESIDENT OF THE A. S. BARNES COMPANY.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of The A. S. Barnes Company, on January 24, John Barnes Pratt was elected president to fill the unexpired term of the office left vacant by the death of the former president, Henry Burr Barnes. Mr. Pratt entered the employ of the firm of A. S. Barnes & Company in 1883 as a boy, beginning work in the bindery in Brooklyn. At the time of the formation of the American Book Company in 1896 he elected to remain with the old firm. In December, 1909, The A. S. Barnes Company was incorporated, and Mr. Pratt was elected vice-president and general manager.

HENRY MALKAN ROBBED.

The store of Henry Malkan was broken into some time between 6 p.m. Saturday, January 28, and 8 a.m. Monday, January 30. Mr. Malkan will greatly appreciate the co-operation of all booksellers in an effort to locate the stolen property and to apprehend the thieves.

The following is a list of books stolen:

Poe, E. A. Tamerlaine Edition, half red morocco, published by Croscup & Sterling, volumes 4, 6 and 7.

Austen, Jane. Winchester Edition, full light green calf, brown title labels, by Birdsall. Published by Grant, Edinburgh, 1905. Full set with exception of volume 2.

Also possibly:

Hawthorne's "House of Seven Gables," half morocco.

Coleridge, half morocco.

Memoirs of George IV., by Huish, half light calf gilt, 2 volumes.

Mary Queen of Scots, half morocco, 2 volumes.

His 'phone number is 3900-3901 Broad, or 'phone of Police Headquarters, 3100 Spring.

IMPORTANT MAGAZINE CONSOLIDATION.

THROUGH an amalgamation just effected, three well established and well known publications are hereafter to be published by one company, although no change in the policy or personnel of editorial management is to take place. The Crowell Publishing Company, owners of Woman's Home Companion and Farm and Fireside, takes over The American Magazine, and will publish it in conjunction with its other two publications. George H. Hazen is president of the Crowell Publishing Company, H. J. Fisher is general manager. The editors of The American Magazine, who have been with the Phillips Publishing Company, will continue both as editors of and exclusive writers for the Crowell Publishing Company. This group consists of John S. Phillips, editor-in-chief, who now becomes an officer and director of the Crowell Publishing Company; Ida M. Tarbell, F. P. Dunne, creator of "Mr. Dooley;" Ray Stannard Baker, Albert A. Boyden and John M. Siddall. William Allen White and other writers who have been closely allied with The American Magazine will continue as contributors.

The three publications in quite distinct fields are said to be at the highest point of success yet attained. The Woman's Home Companion, which occupies a powerful position in the woman's field and whose growth has been astonishing, is edited by Gertrude B. Lane, and numbers on its staff Hayden Carruth, Grace M. Gould and Sophie Kerr Underwood. Farm and Rireside, edited by Herbert Quick, formerly of Sioux City, Iowa, is an agricultural paper of high quality and wide national circulation, and is among the leading exponents of up-to-date agricultural methods. The amalgamation, it is said, will make for increased efficiency and influence in the case of all three of these publications, in the business as well as the editorial departments.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

"THE New York Times Weekly Review of Books," which has appeared as a separate supplement in the Saturday issue, has now been transferred to the Sunday issue.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY has sued Hampton's Magazine for $250,000 damages for publishing the article entitled "Cassidy and the Food Poisoners," which it claims is a libel, and the writer of that article, Cleveland Moffet, for $100,000. After investigation the magazine and the author have retracted the statements, and will publish a letter to that effect in the March issue of Hampton's Magazine.

PERSONAL NOTES.

EDWARD J. VASS, who has been connected with Longmans, Green & Co. for a number of years, is now travelling for them in the East and Middle West. Laurens Maynard will carry the Longmans line to the far West again this year.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

LITTLE, BROWN & CO. are to be the American publishers of "The Romance of Bookselling," fully noticed from the English edition in the Annual Summary Number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY last week.

THE managers of Yale University Library have commissioned an agency to procure all the printed and pictorial literature issued anywhere in England, and by any party, which bears upon the two elections of last year.

"THE PIPER," by Josephine Preston Peabody, which had its first performance at the New Theatre in New York City this week, and Penelope's Progress," by Kate Douglas Wiggin, are to be issued in raised letter editions for the use of the blind and published by Houghton Mifflin Co.

STURGIS & WALTON COMPANY have ready "The Children's City," by Esther Singleton, a book opening up the resources of New York City as a pleasure ground for young people. It describes leisure hour or half holiday jaunts, trips and outings that are delightful, healthful and informing.

ORSAMUS TURNER HARRIS, New York City, has just issued an authoritative, unexpurgated edition in 10 volumes of Guy de Maupassant's works; also a 6-volume Victor Hugo, a 10-volume Scott, a 10-volume Kipling, a 6-volume and an 8-volume Abraham Lincoln, and other sets of standards in cloth bindings, with entirely new type-plates.

SOME time ago B. W. Huebsch, the publisher of "Are You a Bromide?" announced facetiously that it was likely that the words "bromide" and "sulphite," with the new meaning attached to them by Gelett Burgess, would become permanent in our language. Now Dr. Funk asks the author for official definitions for use in the revised Standard Dictionary.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY announce "The Psychology of the Christian Life," by Horace Emory Warner, D.D., a book which they feel will be as useful to religious workers as Harold Begbie's "Twice-born Men," which made such a success during 1910. They also have a Valentine edition of Clara E. Laughlin's "Everybody's Lonesome," for which they have prepared an attractive "girdle," supplies of which may be had on application.

DUFFIELD & COMPANY have ready H. G. Wells's "The New Machiavelli." The central figure is an English statesman, disgraced and exiled, like the famous Italian, but through his own choice, not external misfortune. The whole story of Remington's life, his rise to political fame and his deliberate renunciation of the great prizes England offers her successful leaders, is told with all the frankness that characterized Mr. Wells's "Tono-Bungay" in its picture of modern commercial life.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have ready this week "Behind the Screens, an English Woman's Impressions of Japan," by Evelyn Adam.

This is a study of the people and the country based on a long residence in the Flowery Kingdom. Two other books are also just issued, "History of New Testament Criticism," by F. C. Conybeare, and "History of Anthropology," by Alfred C. Haddon and A. Hingston Quiggan. Both these volumes are included in the History of the Sciences Series.

MUNN & COMPANY, New York, have ready "The Scientific American Cyclopedia of Formulas," compiled by Albert A. Hopkins. This is practically a new book, and is partly based on the twenty-eighth edition of "The Scientific American Cyclopedia of Receipts, Notes and Queries." The new work is an octavo volume, and contains over 1000 pages and about 15,000 selected formulas, covering nearly every branch of the useful arts and industries. The older volume has passed through twenty-eight editions.

Two memorial volumes are just issued by Henry Holt & Company. One, "Margaret Fuller and Goethe," by Frederick Augustus Braun, is a tribute in honor of Margaret Fuller's centenary in 1910; it treats of her development, her religion and philosophy, and her relation to Emerson, James Freeman Clarke and transcendentalism. The other is "Essays in American History," dedicated to Frederick Turner by the authors, his former pupils at the University of Wisconsin, on the occasion of his presidency of the American Historical Association, 1909-1910.

"PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF TELEPHONES ON THE CONTINENT OF EUROPE," by A. N. Holcombe, instructor in government in Harvard University, is issued this week by Houghton Mifflin Company. The book is the result of two years of investigation abroad, an investigation undertaken in the hope that a knowledge of European experience with telephones might aid in the solution of the public problem which the American community must face. The work was awarded the David A. Wells prize for 1909-10, and is published from the income of the David A. Wells Fund.

SIR GASTON MASPERO'S book, "Egypt: Ancient Sites and Modern Scenes," translated by Elizabeth Lee, is published this week by D. Appleton & Company. As Directtor of the Service des Antiquités, Sir Gaston makes an annual inspection of the monuments. An old dahabieh is used for these tours, and as the author says he abandoned himself to the stream (the Nile), the wind sometimes helping, but more often retarding his boat's progress, he frequently stops at places that otherwise would be passed by as of little importance. These unpremeditated delays have given him opportunities of studying modern Egypt and linking it with the ancient, as he has done in this volume of delightful description and archæological lore.

THE expiration on Saturday, January 28, of the copyright on the works of Henri Murger was celebrated with much zest by the students of the Latin Quarter, Paris, and by the issue of cheap editions of his works. The fact that the day marked also the fiftieth anniversary of the death of the author of the "Scènes de la Vie de Bohème" does not seem to have dampened the spirits of the merrymakers or to have retarded the enterprise of the publishers. An interesting souvenir of the occasion could have been made in the form of a bibliography of all the foreign authors who have drawn from the book their inspiration and material for pictures of local Bohemias. The list would include all the languages of civilization, and would reach without a break down to this present year of grace.

MACMILLAN COMPANY have the following books ready this week: "When God Laughs," by Jack London, a collection of short stories taking their title from the initial tale; "The Teaching of Agriculture in the High Schools," by Garland Armor Bricker, assistant in agricultural education, Ohio State University; a new volume in The Bible for Home and School, a "Commentary on the Gospel According to Matthew," by A. T. Robertson, D.D.; "God and Life," by John Hunter, a volume of twelve sermons by the pastor of Trinity Church, Glasgow, which he delivered with one exception in the United States; and "The Life of Friedrich Nietzsche," by Daniel Halévy, translated by J. M. Hone, with an introduction by T. M. Kettle. The book is founded on that of Madame Förster-Nietzsche.

GEORGE W. PARKER ART CO., Minneapolis, are making a specialty of dainty booklets, many of them boxed for gift purppses, and have sent out some most attractive samples. "The Mother Heart" is a compilation by Marion Louise Barber, who has chosen only the best from the very best—Thackeray, Wordsworth, Shelley, Stevenson, Eugene Field, etc.; "The Story of Our Baby" is a blank book for record of baby's doings and a collection of his portraits; and "Embers and Love Lyrics" is a collection of poems by Maurine Hathaway, the "Lyrist of the Pines," who is also author of many other poems done up in ten little pamphlets, with covers of most delicate coloring, all supplied with book-marks of silk ribbon of various tints. Franklin Pierce Carrigan, C. A. Brewer and Elizabeth Gordon have also prepared some of these tempting booklets.

A BOOK of personal reminiscences of the Queen of Roumania, Carmen Sylva, "From Memory's Shrine," is one of the most interesting of the spring publications promised by the J. B. Lippincott Company. While the date for its appearance has not yet been set, enough is known of its contents and make-up to warrant the assertion that it will be one of the books of the year. A photogravure portrait of the royal author and other illustrations will adorn the volume. Three important books which were in the fall list of the Lippincotts, but which were delayed, are now nearing completion, and will be issued in a few weeks. Among them will be Olga Racster's "Two Hundred Opera Plots," a handbook that will be of great value to the operagoer; and the "Scots Dialect Dictionary," by the Rev. Alexander Warrack. The final volumes in this belated list will be "The Origins and Meanings of Popular Phrases and Names," by Basil Hargrave, a useful little volume designed to remove the terrors of the ordinary dictionary.

BENZIGER BROTHERS, New York, Cincinnati, Chicago, have just published a new four-volume set of sermon books, entitled "Christian Mysteries, or, Sermon Discourses on the Mysteries of the Christian Religion," by Right Rev. Jeremias Bonomelli, D.D., Bishop of Cremona, translated by Right Rev. Thomas S. Byrne, D.D., Bishop of Nashville, author and translator of "Homilies for the Whole Year," which have been notably successful; also, a "Short Course in Catholic Doctrine," by Rev. J. T. Durward, for the instruction of non-Catholics about to enter into marriage with Catholics; a new 10-cent edition of "The New Testament," with 450 pages, printed on good paper from the plates used in the more expensive editions; "The Practical Catholic: Maxims Suited to Catholics of the Day," by Rev. Gabriel Palau, S.J., translated by Francis A. Ryan, a book similar to the "Imitation of Christ," but more concerned with present-day conditions; "Melchior of Boston," a story of modern Boston and ancient Babylon by Rev. Michael Earls, S.J., pronounced by critics to be "the strongest story in many a year."

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY announce an attractive list of novels, by well-known authors, for spring publication, as follows: "The Story Girl," by L. M. Montgomery, whose "Anne of Green Gables," "Anne of Avonlea" and "Kilmeny of the Orchard" are among the "best sellers" everywhere; a new novel, the title of which has not yet been determined, by Norval Richardson, author of "The Lead of Honour," the big southern novel, which attracted so much attention last season; "A Captain of Raleigh's," a dashing romance by G. E. Theodore Roberts, who has several successful novels and juvenile books to his credit; and a novelized version of a play, "A Soldier of the Revolution," done by Robert Neilson Stephens just prior to his death. The publishers also announce for almost immediate publication a new volume in their famous educational series of geographical readers, The Little Cousin Series, by Blanche McManus, entitled "Gerard: Our Little Belgian Cousin." This new Little Cousin will doubtless be welcomed on the school lists like many of the series, for, like the rest, it combines information most palatably with a story.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY already announce a number of books for spring publication. "Panther's Cub," by Agnes and Egerton Castle, is the story of a great and much pampered opera singer who is intensely jealous of her young daughter; "Marjory," by E. F. Benson, telling of impulsive, joyous Marjory's marriage, with a self-centred precision that might be devoted to the study of Egyptian and Greek antiquities; "Joyce of the North Woods," by Harriet T. Comstock, tells of life in North Woods village amid primitive men and women; "Two on the Trail," by Hulbert Footner, is a novel by a new author, in which mystery and adventure of youthful joyousness play important parts; another tale in which mystery predominates is "A Comedy of Circumstance," by Emma Gavf, an illusive lady with three or four personalities; Alic Stuyvesant's "The Vanity Box" is an ingenious story, narrating the unravelling of a crime, which suggests a famous case with which English society was all agog a few years ago; and "Fenella," by Henry L. Stuart is a book which chronicles a great love, abandoned in blindness and saved through its own undying faith.

COINCIDENT with the printing by Houghton Mifflin Co. of a second large impression of "Terry's Mexico" comes the announcement that the author, T. Philip Terry, has been elected a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society. This honor is only partly due to the excellence of his book, which at once sprang to a place beside the celebrated Baedeker and Murray guide books, but it is also in recognition of the fact that not every man is as widely travelled as Mr. Terry. Besides having made seven complete journeys around the world, visiting almost every civilized country in the globe and living in a number of Oriental countries—Japan, China, India, etc., he is as much at home in South Africa, Australia or the South Sea Islands as he is at his permanent home near Boston. Five years of constant travel and research in Mexico, from the Rio Grande at the north to the hidden, forest-encircled dead cities of Chiapas at the south, were required to complete the book, which the Mexican Herald refers to as "a classic equal to that which Richard Ford wrote for 'his dearly beloved Spain.'" It is a coincidence that the brilliant, pleasure-loving Ford also occupied five diligent years in writing his guide-book masterpiece.

EIGHT new novels before the 21st of January is the remarkable record of Duffield & Company this year. The books are "Patsy," by H. De Vere Stacpoole, a story with the scene laid in Ireland and a small red-headed Irish boy, the Patsy of the title, as the deus ex machina in the love affairs of the heroine; J. E. Patterson's "Tillers of the Soil," a novel of English farm life by the author of "Fishers of the Sea," "Watchers by the Shore," etc.; "A Cossack Lover," by Martha Gilbert Dickinson Bianchi, in which is related the passion of a dashing Cossack officer for a charming American girl; Jessie Leckie Herbertson's "Young Life," a story in which a young English girl, Hester Stanton, is left in charge of her father's friend, who eventually marries her; "Maradick at Forty," by Hugh Walpole, narrates the complete transformation wrought in the life of a middle-aged Englishman by a brief holiday and contact with youth; "Sir George's Objection," by Mrs. W. K. Clifford, tells of an English gentleman whose strong belief in heredity becomes an important factor in his son's love affair; D. H. Lawrence's "The White Peacock" is a novel of English town and country life, full of strong characterization and unconventional incidents; and "My Lady of Aros," is by John Brisbane, a new writer who has received favorable notice from the English reviews.

RICHARD G. BADGER announces the following books for mid-winter and spring publication: "The Way of the Gods in Japan," by Hope Huntly; "Edgehill Essays," by Adrian Hoffman Joline; "Stories from the Old French Chronicles," by Robert D. Benedict; "The Story of the Soil," by Cyril G. Hopkins; "The Girl That Disappears: the Real Facts of the White Slave Traffic," by General Theodore A. Bingham, ex-Police Commissioner of New York City; "The Ladies Battle," by Molly Elliot Seawell; "Sense and Nonsense of Christian Science," by Leon C. Prince, Ph.D.; "The Career of the Child," by Maximilian P. E. Groszmann, Ph.D.; "The Individual and Society," by J. Mark Baldwin; "Public Hygiene," by Thomas S. Blair, M.D.; "St. Paul's Friendships and His Friends," by Carl Hermon Dudley; "The Favourites of Henry of Navarre" (in the Favourites of the French Court series). The new fiction includes "A Knight of the Golden Circle," a story of the copperhead conspiracy by U. S. Lesh; "A Winter Romance in Poppy Land," by Una Nixson Hopkins; "The Makin's of a Girl," by Emma E. Meguire; "The Dawn Meadow," by Grace A. Dennen; "A Wild Rose," by Clara Viola Fleharty; "The House of Unfulfilled Desire," by Harlan P. Rowe; and "The Man with the Scar," a Christian Science story, by Warren and Alice Fones. A new and unique book of poems down for immediate publication by this house is "The Rape of Hallowe'en and Other Verse," by Henry P. Spencer. On February 1 Mr. Badger begins the issue of Poet Lore Plays, forty titles of which are ready, all bound uniform in boards and including the work of the greatest contemporary European dramatists, among whom are Maeterlinck, Synge, D'Annunzio, Hauptmann, Strindberg, Suderman, Bjornson, Gorky and Echegaray.

BUSINESS NOTES.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Lenox Book Shop, formerly at 14 East 116th Street, has removed to 2078 Seventh Avenue, near 125th Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—Bonnell, Silver & Co., 48 West 22d Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities $22,182 and nominal assets $20,084. There are about 170 creditors, among them John M. Bowers, Mary G. Hoffman, E. B. Silver, Anthony Dey and Guy H. Morgan. Judge Holt appointed Archibald G. Thacher receiver, bond $10,000.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—On May 1 David McKay, now at 610 South Washington Square, will move to 604-608 adjoining. He has just awarded a contract to Thomas H. Marshall for extensive alterations and additions to the new buildings. A permit for the work, which will cost at least $10,000 was issued Monday. The printing trade locates more and more in the vicinity of Washington Square.

PICK-UPS.

"GOOD MEN AND TRUE."

THE following "review" notice of Eugene Manlove Rhodes's new book, "Good Men and True," comes from the publishers, Henry Holt & Company:

This little book is printed with black ink on white paper, so arranged that one may begin at the top of the page, on the left-hand side, and read from left to right to the end of the line; drop down to next line (reverting to left-hand side), and so on to the end. It is very convenient.

The pages are thoughtfully numbered at the top. There are wide margins and blank fly-leaves, which last may be cut out and used for correspondence. Also, if these leaves be folded in box-form and secured at the four corners with four pins, eggs may be cooked in them to perfection. Break your eggs in a bowl. Do not put in the shells. They are indigestible and not nutritious. If any egg should be spoiled, remove it. Take your bowl in your right hand and paper box in your left. (If you are left-handed you may reverse this.) Place your box on the stove with the hollow side up, and simultaneously pour eggs into the box, retaining the bowl. Be sure to have a fire in the stove.

If you put box on stove and do not pour in eggs, the box will scorch; if you pour in eggs and do not put box on stove, box will degenerate. Season to taste and stir with the course of sun.

Do not eat too fast. After eating, wipe your lips delicately with a napkin and remove pins from box. If you like eggs this way very much, publishers will supply you with the book in quantities, at wholesale rates.

Do not eat the box.

This book also makes an acceptable substitute for a flatiron-stand. Ask your hardware dealer for it.

This circular is sent out by the author and emphatically not by Henry Holt & Co.

It is sent only to personal friends and strangers. The idea is to arouse your interest in papered eggs so you will buy the book.

BOOKS WANTED

Under this head booktrade subscribers, under their own names, are given five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertisement for books out of print in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding 100 lines a year. If over five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line. Books not out of print, repeated matter, and all advertisements from nonsubscribers cost 10 cents a line. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY, does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withdrawing their use from irresponsible advertisers, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

J. F. TAPLEY COMPANY

531-5 W. 37th St. BINDERS TO PARTICULAR PEOPLE New York City

Two Trade Directories

1. A Directory of Public Libraries in the United States and Canada, containing over 1000 addresses of the more important ones, each with the name of the librarian, total number of volumes in library, total accessions during 1909, yearly income, and amount expended for book purchase during the past year. Nothing better in the way in a select list has ever been attempted.

This directory is part of the "Annual Library Index." 8vo, cloth, $5.00. Not printed separately.

2. A Directory of Booksellers in the principal towns of the United States and Canada, with their specialties noted (including the names of Department Stores that sell books), with street addresses in large cities. It eliminates the names of drug stores, cigar shops and newsdealers that sell periodicals and paper bound books only. No better selected list has ever been printed.

This directory, printed with interleaved blank pages for annotations, forms part of "The Annual American Catalog." 8vo, cloth, $3.00. Not printed separately.

For $3 you get the latest "Annual American Catalog of Books," with the Directory of Booksellers.

For $5 you get the latest "Annual Library Index," with the Directory of Libraries.

Published in 3 Volumes. Price, $6.00 per set

WAS ISSUED LAST OCTOBER

The next edition will not be published until 1914. Order promptly while copies may be had.

☛ To those who hunt up English titles, even but occasionally, it is indispensable. The Index volume of 1,100 pages is alone worth more than the price of the set.

Office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY

298 BROADWAY NEW YORK

The Travellers' Number

"THIS issue of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, which has been so popular for the past three years because of its wide "personal" interest, will be issued this year under date of February 25th.

Its principal object is the exploitation of Competitive Lines in the mutual interest of publisher and buyer, and our purpose is to make it of commanding importance to the trade.

Extra careful circulation will reach practically every possible buyer of popular lines throughout the country.

Sufficient advertising support having already been pledged, there will be no increase in schedule rates.

Publishers of Competitive Reprints, Copyright Rebinds, Popular Classics, Standard Sets and Series, Rag and Toy Books, Christmas Cards and Calendars, Bibles and Prayer Books, Dictionaries, Technical Hand-Books, etc., will find in "The Travellers' Number" an attractive opportunity for profitable advertising at the opening of the season of early buying.

Annual Library Index

THE ANNUAL LIBRARY INDEX for 1910, now in press, has been made a much more important volume than heretofore. The number of periodicals indexed is now 123, covering most of those included in the five-yearly Poole's Index and not covered heretofore in any of the Annual Indexes. The volume also includes the Index to General Literature, or Essay Index, supplementing the five-yearly A. L. A. Index; the bibliographic record of 1910; and the necrology of authors deceased in 1910. The index to dates, affording a clue to the contents of daily newspapers, not otherwise obtainable, is a feature of great usefulness.

To these usual divisions, there is continued the new feature in a select list of all the more important public and semi-public libraries in the United States and Canada, which includes this year over 1000 entries, giving the location, name, librarian's name, number of volumes, accessions in the past library year, annual income and expenditure. Under each state is also given the information as to its library commission, library association and library clubs.

As this important annual depends on the support of librarians for its annual continuance, we ask that their subscription be sent in promptly, especially from the libraries that have the earlier volumes of the series.

Why shouldn't HENRY C. ROWLAND'S New Novel

THE MAGNET

Be popular with the Trade?

Naturally, a novel with a NET NAME will be heartily supported by the booksellers. They are enthusiastic, too, for other reasons, as these remarks, accompanied by orders, show:

"I have never read a love story, pure and simple, which pleased me as much. I will surely recommend THE MAGNET as being the best love story written within many years."

"One of the best and most refreshing novels that has appeared in several years. It should, and doubtless will, have an immense sale."

"Have given this book to three of the clerks in the department to read, and they all think it will be a very big seller."
